Taft Law School
The Bachelor of Science in Laws Program

OVERVIEW

The Bachelor of Science in Laws Program (hereinafter the Program) is a non-professional bachelor's degree completion program. Admission to this Program is limited to individuals who have not earned a bachelor's degree and have completed the first year curriculum of Taft Law School's Juris Doctor – Attorney TrackSM Program or its Juris Doctor–Executive TrackSM Program.

The Program is of primary interest to individuals who have earned approximately 90 semester units at the time of application to one of the Juris Doctor Programs and who may be eligible for salary increases upon earning an accredited Bachelor's degree.

PRESENTATION

The Bachelor of Science in Laws Program is presented in a independent study modality requiring no classroom or seminar attendance.

The Independent Study process developed by the Taft Law School has four major elements:

- (1) Distance Education;
- (2) Independent Self-Study;
- (3) Senior Faculty Advisors and;
- (4) Faculty Mentors.

Distance education is education designed for students who live at a distance from the School's facilities. It is a process that provides organized, formal learning opportunities for its students.

Independent self-study recognizes that education is an individual process where individuals with different learning needs and study schedules can be accommodated. It emphasizes learning that is meaningful, where individuals are involved in and enjoy the learning process, and where individuals acquire knowledge to better understand and cope with their own careers.

Senior Faculty Advisors assist Faculty Mentors in developing comprehensive course outlines and assist in documenting that the respective courses are comparable to similarly titled courses in other well respected accredited institutions with respect to course content and expected student learning outcomes. Senior Faculty Advisors may also be retained for special purposes including, but not limited to, developing effective assessment procedures and technology development. Senior Faculty Advisors do not normally have teaching or student contact responsibilities.

The School's Faculty Mentors support the student's independent-study learning role by guiding and stimulating the learning process in one-on-one interaction. Taft faculty members recognize individual learning styles and needs, encourage one-on-one contact, and emphasize the relevance of the material to the individual's situation.

Each course in the Program contains a series of lesson assignments generally consisting of reading requirements and research projects. Students are evaluated through examinations and/or research assignments which are submitted for faculty evaluation.

ADMISSION POLICIES AND REQUIREMENTS

Consistent with the School's stated Mission of providing educational opportunities to individuals who are mature adults, employed on a full-time basis, or for whom place of residence or travel requirements are constraining factors, Taft Law School has instituted two classifications of applicants of this Program. Prior to enrollment, all applicants to the B.S.L. Program must complete a Degree Completion Plan Agreement.

Regular Applicants

Applicants who have earned a minimum of 60 semester units from a college or university accredited by an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education generally qualify as regular applicants. Individuals who hold an earned Bachelor's degree are not eligible for admission to this Program. The majority of applicants to this Program are mature adults working in a variety of professional settings. Many have not attended college for several years. Consequently, prior class rank and grade point average are not significant factors in the admission process.

Applicants Educated Outside of the United States

It may be necessary for applicants who have attended colleges or universities outside of the United States to obtain an evaluation of their education from a credential evaluation service approved by Taft Law School. Upon request, the Admissions Office will provide a list of approved evaluators.

In addition, applicants whose native language is not English and who have not earned a degree from an accredited institution where English is the principal language of instruction must have received a minimum score of 550 on the paper version of Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

Concurrent Enrollment in the Juris Doctor Program

A maximum of 24 units earned in a Juris Doctor Program offered by Taft Law School may be applied to the Bachelor of Science in Laws degree. Candidates for the B.S.L. degree cannot continue into the second year of the Juris Doctor Program until they have completed all degree requirements of the B.S.L. Program. (Units earned while enrolled in the B.S.L. Program cannot be applied to the degree requirements of the Juris Doctor Program.)

CURRICULUM AND DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

To earn the Bachelor of Science in Laws degree, a student must document the completion of at least 120 semester units including a minimum of 30 units completed at Taft Law School. (Required and elective courses are set forth below.) At least 30 units must be in general education courses. General education courses as well as other non-law courses are not offered by Taft Law School. They may be satisfied through transfer credit or the College Level Examination Program examinations. Credit will be granted consistent with the recommended standards of the American Council on Education.

The Program must be completed within two years from matriculation.

INSTRUCTIONAL POLICIES AND METHODS

Shortly after enrollment, all students are provided with a syllabus for each course containing expected student learning outcomes, required materials, lesson assignments and examination procedures. Although students are provided with recommended weekly lesson assignments, the timing of the completion of these assignments lies with the student. This format allows maximum flexibility in allocating time between a student's academic, professional, and personal life. The structure of the courses will vary depending on which Juris Doctor Program the student has selected. However, all electives in the Bachelor of Science in Laws Program utilize an independent study modality.

Individual catalog supplements are available on Taft Law School's website for each of the Juris Doctor Programs offered by the School. Each such supplement contains information on instructional policies and methods for that program.

POLICY ON TRANSFER CREDIT AND CREDIT FOR STANDARDIZED EXAMINATIONS

A maximum of 90 semester units can be awarded toward the total bachelor's degree requirement of 120 units through a combination of any or all of the following:

(1) Units earned at public or private institutions of higher learning accredited by an accrediting association recognized by the United States Department of Education, or any institution of higher learning, including foreign institutions, if the institution offering the undergraduate program documents that the institution of higher learning at which the units were earned offers degree programs equivalent to degree programs accredited by an accrediting association recognized by the United States Department of Education.

(2) Scores on College Level Examination Program (CLEP) examinations. Credit will be granted consistent with the recommended standards of the American Council on Education. (See the next page of this Catalog Supplement for specific score requirements and semester unit values. Credit for CLEP exams cannot exceed 30 units.)

Duplicate credit will not be granted in categories (1) and (2) for the same subject. (For example, if transfer credit has been accepted for completing American Government at an appropriate college or university, no additional credit would be granted for passing the American Government CLEP Examination.)

At least 30 semester units must be completed in general education subjects through transfer credit or CLEP examinations. At least one college level course or CLEP examination must be completed in any four of the following five general education areas:

English Composition
Humanities
Mathematics
Natural Sciences
Social Science and History

It is not required a student pass the CLEP General Examinations to satisfy the above requirement. A student may take any Subject Examination within a general area.

Taft Law School does not award credit for work experience.

ANSWERS TO THE MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. Q. What books and other materials are utilized in the Program?

A. Taft Law School students use many of the same casebooks and textbooks as students at traditional universities such as Harvard, Stanford, and other American Bar Association approved law schools. In addition, Taft students benefit from professionally prepared course outlines, law summaries, and recorded lectures.

2. Q. Can I transfer credits earned at Taft Law School to other schools? Can the Bachelor's degree I earn at Taft qualify me for admission to a graduate program at another school?

A. The evaluation of any units or degrees earned at Taft Law School, for the purpose of transfer credit or admissions into graduate programs, is controlled solely by the institution you wish to subsequently attend. Some colleges or universities will only consider credit earned at a regionally accredited institution. The School therefore cannot make any representation about whether the units or degrees earned in this program will be accepted upon transfer to any other institution. Any questions about transferring credit earned at the School must be directed to the institution to which you are planning to transfer.

3. Q. What type of preparation is advisable for the study of law?

A. Successful law students have come from all walks of life and educational backgrounds. Consequently, the School does not prescribe a specific course of study or employment experience for admission. Any person who has the ability to learn, is well motivated, has reasonable writing skills, and possesses a logical mind has the basic tools necessary to become a successful Taft student.

4. Q. How soon do I need to select an area of specialization?

A. A common misconception about law school is that students must specialize in particular areas of the law while pursuing the first law degree. The volume of basic material essential to professional competence and required to pass the Bar Examination is too great to allow specialization within the JDATSM Program. Our goal is to prepare students for the Bar Examination. For attorneys wishing to specialize in particular areas of the law, the Continuing Education of the Bar and many private organizations offer hundreds of outstanding programs annually.

5. Q. What financial aid is available?

A. Special grants-in-aid are available to outstanding prospects and certain members of professional groups such as CPA's and law enforcement personnel. These grants-in-aid are generally equal to 10% of the tuition. In addition, SLM Financial Corporation (a division of Sallie Mae) and Wells Fargo Bank offer qualified students loan programs to finance 100% of tuition and recommended books and materials. This Program is not an eligible program for purposes of obtaining new federally insured student loans.

6. Q. How soon can I get started?

A. For this Program, Taft Law School maintains open enrollment throughout the year. Applications are reviewed weekly and most students commence study within three weeks from the date of application.
